TRAMMELL CROW COMPANY JOINS CABA BOARD OF DIRECTORS

July 17, 2006

The Continental Automated Buildings Association (CABA) announced today the addition of the Trammell Crow Company to its Board of Directors. CABA is a trade association that promotes advanced technologies for integrated systems and the automation of homes and buildings.

Trevor Foster, Global Director of the firm's Management Services Group, will represent Trammell Crow Company on CABA's Board. He has more than 25 years of experience in property and facility management, for all types of facilities including commercial property, high tech manufacturing and industrial plants.

Foster joined Trammell Crow Company from EMCOR Group Inc., where he most recently served as Vice President of Corporate Development & Executive Vice President of Facilities Services, playing a key role in the expansion of EMCOR's geographic coverage and market penetration. Foster established the facilities service operations for EMCOR and led the profitable growth to in excess of $1 billion.

Foster previously worked for Johnson Controls in senior management and various operational and engineering positions in Australia, Far East, Middle East, United Kingdom and the United States. He was the Regional Engineer for systems and services in the Far East. The operational assignments included Managing Director of the Middle East assigned to restructure the operations as a result of the Gulf War in 1990 as well as Managing Director for the United Kingdom assigned to expanding the operation into facilities management from 1993 to 1997.

Foster holds a Bachelor of Electrical Engineering degree from the University of Queensland with First Class Honors in electrical engineering and computer science.

Ronald J. Zimmer, CABA President & CEO commented: "I am delighted to welcome Trevor Foster of Trammell Crow Company to CABA and I know that his breadth of experience in multinational companies will be invaluable in achieving the new strategic plan - Vision 2010."
