CABA Enters Education Partner Agreement with CoR Advisors

May 10, 2011

The Continental Automated Buildings Association is pleased to announce that it has entered into an education partner agreement with CoR Advisors to provide valuable technology education to the real estate industry.

“We are extremely excited to have established a partnership with CoR Advisors,” stated Ronald J. Zimmer, CABA President & CEO. “As an education partner, CABA will contribute to CoR Advisors’ webcasts and seminars in order to share our collective knowledge and resources with the real estate community.”

Areas of focus for educational programs include: green building solutions, energy management and reporting, advanced lighting strategies, building automation, alternative energy solutions, energy procurement, demand response programs, LEED certification, financial modeling and ROI analysis, intelligent building solutions, and other educational programs for owners, managers and tenants. For a calendar of upcoming programs, please visit www.coradvisors.net/CoRWebinars.html.

“Our goal is to raise awareness of new technologies and solutions that will make buildings more intelligent and energy efficient, as well as increase the demand for intelligent building solutions in the marketplace,” said Darlene Pope, Founder and Principal of CoR Advisors. “Both CABA and CoR Advisors are committed to advancing the knowledge, practice, and skills of professionals in the building technology industry, so it makes sense that we should team up to offer these educational programs.”

CoR Advisors provides professional education and consulting services to help commercial real estate owners evaluate and implement "best practices" in intelligent building technologies, energy management, and sustainable business practices. The firm’s objective is to leverage state-of-the-art technologies and partner with leading service providers to deliver both short-term and long-term asset value to its clients.
